

FastHomeOffer.com to Connect Homeowners with Real Estate Investors

The launch of FastHomeOffer.com a new web site designed to connect homeowners with real estate investors worldwide was announced today.

DALLAS, Texas, June 28 -- For homeowners in distressed situations it has not always been easy finding someone to help. Many face foreclosure, late payments, divorce, estates, double house payments, major repairs, or other issues that create a need for them to sell a home quickly.

FastHomeOffer.com provides a solution to this problem by linking the homeowner with hundreds of local real estate investors that can buy homes for cash in as little as five days without closing costs or fees.

While investors typically expect a discount from the full retail price, this has been more cost effective than the alternative.

Time on the market for homes listed with a Realtor can take up to eight months. That combined with real estate commissions, closing costs, repairs, and the large discount most homeowners take after negotiating with a buyer makes working with an investor a smart financial decision.

For investors the benefit is clear, access to hundreds of homeowners in their market that wish to sell their home quickly for cash.

Homeowners wishing to contact investors affiliated with FastHomeOffer.com may do so at www.fasthomeoffer.com/sellerform.
